Henry Burnet, an old and respected citizen of Youngstown, died at his residence at Lansingville, one of the suburbs of this city, about half past three o'clock on Monday afternoon, the 28th inst. [10 Apr 1801 - 28 Aug 1876], aged 75 years, 4 months and 17 days. He had lain sick about three weeks, of a bilious intermittent fever, complicated with chronic disease of the kidneys.

THE BURNETT FAMILY - NJ AND OHIO

Mr. Burnett was one of the pioneers of this part of the State. His father, Samuel Burnett, was a native of Morristown, New Jersey, the family being a prominent and influential one in that State, and came of the good old Scotch and English family of that name. The father, Mr. Samuel Burnett, was a man of liberal education, and at one time of considerable fortune, but meeting with reverses and loss of property about the time of or soon after the revolutionary war, he finally concluded to emigrate to the west, and along about the year 1798 he moved to and took a piece of land near the site of the present town of Hudson in Northern Ohio.

This district was then an unbroken wilderness. Here in the year 1801, April 11th, his son Henry was born, and here in the midst of the limitless forests many of the years of his boyhood were passed. Later and along the year 1808 or 9 Mr. Samuel Burnett moved to Warren, Ohio, and he and old Mr. Quinby (to whom Mrs. Samuel Burnett was related) erected a large log cabin on what is now known as Quinby Hill, and both families lived in it for some time.

Notes: (cont.)

Mr. Burnett's youth was passed with no opportunities for education, and what little he acquired was under the instruction of his parents at home. His time as a boy was mainly devoted to hard work in assisting his father in his hard battle with rugged nature, and in helping him to gain a livelihood for a large family.

In those early days, when white settlements were far apart, when there were hundreds of Indians to every white man, when there were no roads or bridges or means of communication between the white settlers save by blazed paths through the far stretching dark old forests, when there were no mills, stores, shops, or any of the conveniences of civilization, struggles had to be encountered and hardships and sufferings endured of which we in this later time can have little or no conception. Under these circumstances Mr. Henry Burnett was reared. Without the advantages of any early education, he yet was endowed with great natural abilities, and with an iron constitution.
